ABSTRACT

Designed to provide improved subject access over other existing subject heading lists for literature related to the Chicano experience, the Thesaurus is an initial attempt to remedy the absence of a baseline vocabulary for use in indexing and retrieving relevant materials from various information systems. Most of the approximately 700 entries are in English, although some are in Spanish. Terms contain 40 or less characters. Each entry is numbered with a unique "term identification number" which can be used for searching and indexing. The terms are organized into three separate segments. An Alphabetical List includes all the terms in each hierarchy with cross references to scope notes and other terms. A Permuted Index displays on a rotating basis each keyword of a multiword term, and brings together related terms which may be separated in the alphabetical segment. The Hierarchical Segment is an alphabetical array of all the broadest terms, each with its own array of narrower terms. An introduction explains the use of each segment. The first three letters of the first and last terms on each page of the Alphabetical Display are indicated in large print at the top of the page. (SB)

The increased interest in Chicano curricula and research over the past ten years has been accompanied by the realization that the libraries of the United States have neglected both the collection and organization of materials which document the Chicano experience. During this same period many Chicano bibliographic projects have been founded to help remedy this situation. One common problem faced by all of these efforts was the absence of a baseline vocabulary which could be used to index and retrieve relevant materials from the various information systems. The Committee for the Development of Subject Access to Chicano Literature was formed to address this need.

The Chicano Thesaurus represents a published "first" in the efforts of numerous individuals, Chicano librarians and non-librarians alike, concerned with subject access to collected information on the Chicano experience. The Thesaurus has been adopted as the indexing tool for the Chicano Periodical Index Project and is likewise being used in several Chicano Studies Libraries/Collections in the Southwestern U.S. for indexing and/or cataloging monographs, off-prints, newsclipping files, pamphlets, vertical file materials, periodical literature, etc. The Thesaurus is designed to provide improved subject access over other existing subject heading lists for literature on the Chicano experience. Institutions can employ the Thesaurus to clarify their information needs, enabling those involved in the development of the Thesaurus to respond more accurately to their request for information on Chicanos. It is hoped that this edition of the Thesaurus will be viewed as an initial step towards establishing the vocabulary of Chicano Studies.

NOTE TO USERS:

Institutional users of the Thesaurus are asked to:

- Inform the Committee that they are planning to use the Thesaurus to index materials.
- Report to the Committee any new terms that they feel should be incorporated into the Thesaurus.
- Be aware that assistance from the Committee regarding indexing procedures is available.

The Committee for the Development of Subject Access to Chicano Literature will be responsible for:

- Updating and expanding the present Thesaurus.
- Disseminating information regarding the Thesaurus.
- Distribution.
- Training and coordinating the activities of the participating members.

Thesaurus Development

A thesaurus is a listing of terms and relationships among them, arranged in a structured format to enable indexers and subject analysts to describe the subject information of a document to a desired specificity at input to an information system. Searchers then can use the same terms to retrieve the information they require.

The increase in the number of published documents, the evolution of various disciplines which have contributed to Chicano Studies, and the increased awareness of the value of documented research have all resulted in the greater need for the control and organization of published material. The concept of a controlled vocabulary for subject access is one effective means of handling the continuing difficulties in identification and retrieval of collections being developed by participating Chicano bibliographic units. It also provides, through its structure, a means for adding new terms and new word relationships as new material is acquired. To give the user an understanding of this particular thesaurus, the steps followed in its creation are described here.

The first step was to identify subject areas within the field of Chicano Studies. Chicano Studies was broadly defined as an interdisciplinary area of study which focused on the Chicano experience. Chicano Studies being the focal point of the document, other related areas, e.g. "Latin American Studies," are treated only as they relate to Chicano Studies. Additionally, it was decided that the Thesaurus terms reflect subjects as articulated in Chicano literature in actual print and non-print material. The subsequent step was the identification and organization of subject terms. During this phase various Chicano subject heading lists were collected and studied. The major lists reviewed were (1) the Chicano Subject Heading List, U.C. Berkeley; (2) Coleccion Tloque Nahuaque Subject Heading Lists, U.C. Santa Barbara; (3) Authorized Subject Headings of the Chicano Studies Research Library, U.C.L.A. These lists were developed by the above libraries using different approaches, but nonetheless reflecting the literature in Chicano Studies as articulate by Chicano authors. The following sources contributed to these lists: (1) Library of Congress Subject Headings; (2) Sears List of Subject Headings; (3) the Chicano Classification System; (4) ERIC Thesaurus, and other literature on development of subject access. Subject headings and their cross references were then selected from these lists and sorted alphabetically, and a composite list created. Style conventions (Guidelines for Thesaurus Structure, Construction and Use, American National Standards Institute, ANSI), the three-segment format for the Thesaurus, and key procedures for establishing word relationships were selected. Subject headings were then converted to key terms and resturctured according to ANSI guidelines, and the list was then produced by VORT Corporation of Palo Alto using a minicomputer.

As information on the Chicano experience grows and as information systems (libraries, research centers, archives, computerized data bases) collect and provide subject access to same, the Thesaurus will grow and become refined to the point where it, in fact, represents the vocabulary of the field of Chicano Studies and becomes a basic structure and guide to the indexing and retrieval of materials relating to the field of Chicano Studies.

HOW THE THESAURUS WORKS

The Thesaurus consists of three segments: the alphabetical; the permuted; and the hierarchical. An example of each segment is presented below along with an explanation of its use.

Alphabetic Term Segment: The Alphabetical Segment is an alphabetical listing of all the terms in the hierarchy together with cross references (BT, NT, RT) to other acceptable terms, and scope notes which clarify ambiguous terms. Synonyms for index terms point the user to the acceptable term (Use____). All synonysm pertaining to a particular acceptable index term are listed with that term (Used for____). The example below illustrates these points:

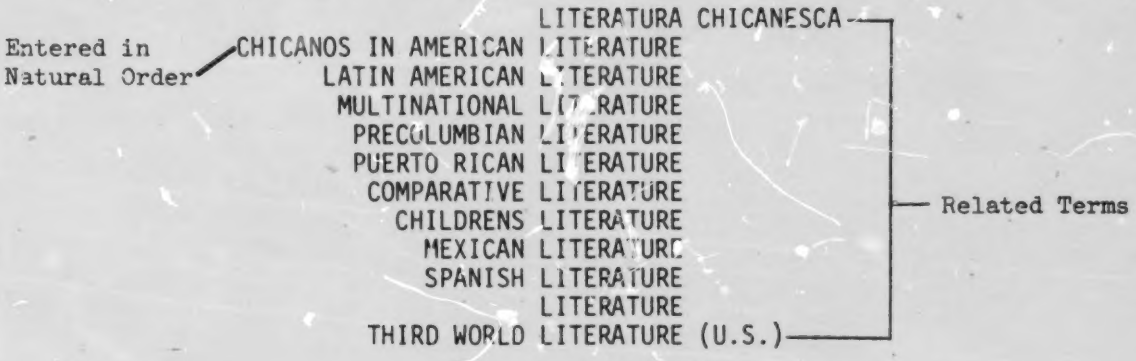
Permuted Segment: The Permuted Segment has two functions:

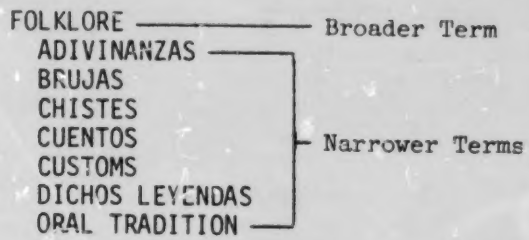
1) It is an alphabetical index which displays on a rotating basis each keyword of a multi-word term. Since terms are entered into the Thesaurus in natural word order, it permits the user to find the appropriate index term based on the term of the user's choice.

2) The Permuted Segment also brings together related terms that may be separated in the Alphabetic Segment due to word position within the multi-word term.



Hierarchical Segment: The Hierarchical Segment presents an alphabetic array of all the "Broadest Terms," i.e. all the terms that carry NT cross references under them, but no BT cross references above them. Terms having no Narrower Terms under them are also considered "Broadest Terms." Under each Broadest Term" the particular generic tree (i.e. the entire array of Narrower Terms) is displayed. Generic subordination is indicated via indentions. Terms which are narrower to some other term and have no narrower terms, appear only within that generic tree and not by themselves as separate alphabetic entries.

Hierarchical Segment (illustration)



Explanation of Entries and Notations

Term: The word or phrase selected as an acceptable index term.

SN (scope note): included to define the content of a given term more specifically or to differentiate between hononyms.

UF (used for): the preferred term is used instead of this term.

USE (use reference): use the term indicated instead of the term looked up.

NT (narrower term): this term is narrower in concept and may be consulted if more specific information is desired.

BT (broader term): this is generically broader than the given term and may be consulted if more general informtion is desired.

RT (related term): this term is related to a given term in some way but is not broader or narrower; it alerts the user to other terms that may be of interest.

Term Identification Number: Each term has its own unique number which can be used for indexing or searching.

Identifiers: Identifiers are excluded. Identifiers are the names of people, geographic locations, organizations, projects etc. These are usually indexed separately.

Alphabetization: Terms are arranged alphabetically.

Statistics

Terms contain 40 or less characters.

There are approximately 700 acceptable terms.

There are approximately 160 "USE" references.
